

GUESS WHO?

Portraits by Matteo Cremonini

Guess Who? is a two-player guessing game created by Ora and Theo Coster, also known as Theodora Design, first manufactured by Milton Bradley in 1979 in Great Britain. It was brought to the United States in 1982.

Each player is given an identical board containing cartoon images of 24 people identified by their first names. The game begins with each player selecting a card of their choice from a separate pile of cards containing the same 24 images.

The object of the game is to be the first to determine which card one's opponent has selected. This is done by asking various yes or no questions to eliminate candidates, such as "Does this person wear glasses?"

When one's opponent provides the answer, one eliminates those that do not fit the criterion by 'flipping down' the cards on one's board.
